Green Gables

Bill and Marlene Rouse started Green Gables, Inc. as a retail operation in 1984 in their three car garage in Bradford, Illinois. Making small, high end country furniture and crafts, they sold their products at décor shows nationwide. In 1991, they built their first factory in Bradford and opened their first retail store in Galesburg. That's when their oldest son, Bill, Jr., joined the business to help grow to seven stores by 1995. Also in 1995, their youngest son, Bob, joined the business. They continued to operate retail stores until 2002. Bill and Marti suffered physical setbacks and decided to retire and the business was continued by Bob and his wife, Tricia. In 2003, Green Gables closed their stores and began to sell only wholesale. They started with designs from material they had been accumulating—reclaimed wood. This was an instant success. Starting with five employees, Green Gables has grown into a group of more than 60 craftsmen today. They now have permanent showrooms in Las Vegas and High Point and ship nationwide and to Canada. In January of 2012, a fire destroyed the 14,000-square foot manufacturing facility. Luckily, the former Bradford Industries, Inc. building had over 30,000 square feet of manufacturing space available. Two days after the fire, the Green Gables craftsman started the rebuilding process there. Ten days after the fire they built their first piece of furniture, and three weeks after their first delivery was made! Bill and Marlene have since passed on, but through it all the future remains bright. In the spring of 2016, Green Gables moved into a new 50,000-square foot facility in Bradford. They now use new woods along with old woods. To this day, the founding principles of Green Gables are at the forefront of their business—quality, design, and customer service.

BACK TO THE BARN

This line utilizes a variety of textures and colors of reclaimed wood. We found a fresh color palette after seeing the array of different paints that reclaimed wood bears. The result is a truly authentic look akin to the antique structures from where the wood originates. Back to the Barn reveres the tough American people that made the buildings part of their daily lives.

Cannock Chase mixes rich tan colors of natural White Oak with the regal richness of Walnut. Live-edge is a strong feature throughout the artfully crafted, innovative design.

CHATEAU

This collection is elegant and dynamic with intricate tops fashioned from a parquet pattern of White Oak and reclaimed wood. It was inspired by the rich and detailed craftsmanship of pre-revolutionary France.

“I have been blessed to visit the beautiful country of France. The floors in these Chateaus...they have an intricate beautiful pattern throughout. I wanted to capture that and bring it into a piece of furniture, the beauty and history. You can bring this into your own home and have that same ambiance, elegance, and historical value.”

The Chestnut Oaks headboard displays horizontal slats overlaying angled slats. The top slat, with angled ends, finishes the design. The footboard is simple but appropriate. The simple lines of the case pieces combined with a mid-century base reflect the look of more expensive furniture. This solid Red Oak collection is available in four finishes and four hardware options. Finished, solid maple dovetailed drawers with soft close slides are standard.

CODY

The Cody line features a complicated mix of textured, black-hued reclaimed wood, smooth barn wood, and weathered gray accent wood. Inspired by classic mid-century western design, this line features hand-forged twisted metal hardware. Textured black-hued reclaimed wood comprises the posts, frames, and top wrap. Smooth barn wood is the featured wood of the drawer fronts, sides, and top panels. Weathered gray wood dresses out the pieces on the front, the interior top edge, and the panels on the beds and casework sides. Overall, one of our most Western-styled collections.

COMSTOCK

Named for the famous Comstock Lode, a silver ore body discovered in the 1850's in the Utah Territory, this collection reflects the wild, untamed spirit of the old west and respects the ingenuity of the miners that tamed it. Constructed of live-edge Walnut wrapped in steel frames, these pieces are designed to inspire and comfort. Just like silver, they will always be beautiful and in style.

COPPERHEAD

Copperhead is a classic Tim McClellan design featuring copper details that use patinated barn woods and craftsman styling.

“I love copper and I love barn boards. It's a beautiful combination that doesn't need any other embellishment, so I ran a single copper board across the tops. The name was inspired by musician, Steve Earle.”

HAMPSHIRE

The Hampshire Collection explores the use of space, drawing the eye to the elegant legs and exposed steel joinery. This collection is clean, airy, and elegant.

“This is a design that was inspired by the use of space. I wanted to separate, to deconstruct, the leg from the piece. It was a way to rethink furniture and come up with a dynamic line that is cutting edge, yet timeless.”

HAMPTON HEATH

The Hampton Heath Collection is made from a mixture of antique reclaimed hardwoods and Butternut. The reclaimed hardwoods have aged to silver or dark gray.

They are featured in the sides, aprons, face frames, and door panels. Butternut makes up the remaining portion of the design. Butternut, also called White Walnut, is a botanical cousin to all Walnuts.

It provides a similar grain, slightly lighter and softer timber than Walnut, but in a rich, light brownish-gray natural state. No stain has been applied to the Butternut. Worm holes from a blight that has affected the Butternut tree are present. We added hand forged hardware to complete the look.

HERITAGE

Along with our Stony Brooke Collection, the Heritage Collection is our most complete in terms of number of pieces. Real wooden hinges and metal slide bar door latches are the main hardware features of this line. Hand forged round stock hardware is featured for drawer pulls. Weathered gray wood is used in the doors, drawer fronts, and top panels. Naturally textured barn wood is used for the casework. Beds, sideboards, servers, buffets, and hutches are the best sellers of this rustic yet refined collection.

LAVA

The Lava line is not only unique in form but also in materials used. Both the sideboard and the dining table feature metal bases. The sideboard case is finished all around and made from fumed Eucalyptus. The doors, like the table top, are framed and bisected by mottled fumed Eucalyptus, transitioning to figured American Walnut, culminating with centers of exotic Amboyna burl.

MENDOCINO

“The Mendocino Collection perfectly captures the Mountain Mainstream movement with its synergetic blending of rich American Walnut, reclaimed timbers and organic Poplar bark. Years ago when I first discovered Poplar bark I knew I had to design something unique with it. Seeing it more as a textile, a savory and dynamic material I was inspired to employ it in a new and exciting way.”

OLD YELLOWSTONE

Old Yellowstone combines natural, bark-on Hickory legs with smooth barn wood sides, tops, drawer fronts, and doors. The face frames are crafted from Alder wood. Hickory posts bring a unique blend of rustic that has remained popular for over 100 years. This is the same styling that has furnished many of our national parks, such as Yellowstone.

PAGOSA SPRINGS

Pagosa Springs is a unique and distinctive line. The bedroom pieces feature, when applicable, a stylized leather back plate behind the drawer pull that is somewhat petite, but elegant. The bed can have dark patina smooth barn wood or leather in the panels. The featured leathers are sienna red, which is a dark burgundy, or sienna brown, which is a rich warm brown. Textured barn wood, dark patina smooth barn wood, and stained Wormy Maple make up the Pagosa Springs line.

RED RIVER

Red River is a classic collection with metal legs and a mixture of various woods and colors. The case work is made from naturally textured barn wood. The gray wood tops are lightly sanded, allowing the brown tones to come through and mix with the gray coloring. All of the tops are wrapped in barn wood with a dark-stained inlay. The smaller fronts are textured barn wood stained dark, while the larger fronts have an angled darker panel framed with textured barn wood. Round tables, 48" and under, are available in dining, pub, and bar heights, all with sweeping curves and forged metal feet. The hardware is an antiqued iron, twisted ring pull.

RICHARDSON

Metal splayed legs support the fine Walnut chosen in this collection. A combination of straight-line and real live-edge drawer fronts is complimented with solid Walnut tops. The bed displays the true beauty of large swooping live-edge panels. Available in four hardware options. Finished, solid maple dovetailed drawers with soft close slides are standard.

SHERWOOD

The Sherwood Collection is reclaimed barn wood accented with rich birch bark panels on the tops and drawer fronts, lending to the look and texture of warm weathered leather.

“I saw this material, this thin beautiful textured birch bark, and thought ‘it’s almost like leather; like old leather.’ Rustic, a bit of refinement, but something that has a lot of character and a lot of story to tell.”

SOUTH LAKE

South Lake doors and drawer fronts are crafted using live-edge boards. The overhang of the live-edge eliminates the need for handles. Concealed hinges on the doors create an ultra-clean look. The use of false mortise and tenons creates the illusion that the legs pass elegantly through the top.

STONY BROOKE

Along with our Heritage Collection, the Stony Brooke Collection is our most complete in terms of the number of pieces. Stony Brooke was our first, and remains our most popular collection. Featuring naturally textured barn wood throughout, the hardware includes antiqued brass knobs, and handmade wood handles. Very "Arts and Crafts" in feel and look, with a true timber frame quality about it.

TROUBADOUR

The Troubadour Collection is contemporary and warm. Black steel frames are wrapped in gorgeous live-edge American Walnut slabs on dressers and nightstands, while the bed is a deconstructed live-edge slab accented with clean black steel. Stunning.

“I love the beauty and organic flow of live edge. A line that fits today’s style and yet will be timeless in its own design.”

WESTERN TRADITIONS

This collection is as authentic to the West as a ghost town or gold mine. Hardware is hand forged from horseshoe metal stock or in some pieces, antler burr knobs. The tops are gray weathered wood panels, wrapped in brown barn wood. Angled gray weathered wood door and drawer fronts help to add to the character of this line.
